Interest on your Certificate of Deposit is calculated using the daily balance method, which applies a daily periodic rate to the principal balance in your account each day.

- Interest accrues daily based on a 365-day year
- Interest compounds daily
- Accrued interest is not paid periodically and will instead be credited in full at maturity
- The Annual Percentage Yield (APY) reflects the total amount of interest earned over a one-year period, including the effect of compounding

No interest will be paid if the CD is closed prior to funding settlement.
